Flavour Creations takes action to protect patients, customers and staff against novel coronavirus

Leading Australian specialist food and beverage manufacturer Flavour Creations has announced special prevention measures to protect its customers, staff and patients from potential exposure to Novel Coronavirus.

Brisbane-based Flavour Creations provides innovative solutions to the most vulnerable members of the community, servicing hospitals and aged care homes around the country.

In addition to recommended hygiene practices and health information issued by the Australian Government, the company has taken the additional step of restricting staff visits to hospitals.

Instead, Flavour Creations will conduct meetings with hospital clients via video conferencing, or offsite.

Company Founder and Chief Executive Officer Bernadette Eriksen said: "This will allow our team to continue to provide world-class service for our customers across aged care and hospitals, while protecting staff, vulnerable patients and clients."

The changes will remain in place until Australian health authorities advise that concerns about the novel coronavirus have passed.
