

BRAND NEW Major Retailer Items Flood Auction House

More than six B-double trucks full of brand-new whitegoods worth over $2 million have inundated Lloyds Auctions where they will all be auctioned starting at $1 with no reserve.

Multiple major retailer insurance claims have led to an unprecedented influx of brand-new whitegoods, appliances, consumer electronics, drones, computers and more. Big brand products such as Samsung, Fisher and Paykel, Hisense, LG, Miele are stacked to the roof and Lloyds have had to rent an additional warehouse to keep up.

In a series of UNRESERVED auctions, thousands of brand-new products will start at just $1 and sell to the highest bidder at any price.

“We have fridges, washing machines & dishwashers as far as the eye can see. You’ll find everything to fit out your home and possibly save up to 50% off recommended retail prices” commented Mr. Lee Hames, Chief Operations Officer for Lloyds Auctions. “There’s even 21” TV’s on the fridge doors – I’ve never seen anything like it!”

Interest in these new items is already flooding in and the auctions haven’t even been published yet.

“These sales don’t last long and don’t come around often. They have proven very popular Nationwide so I encourage people to get in quick if they don’t want to miss out. In fact, we have already had great interest from people coming through our warehouse and all the items haven’t even been put online yet,” Mr. Hames continued.

Insurance claim auctions are often in original condition or display packaging that has been exposed to the elements.

“There is usually nothing mechanically wrong with these products with most items only showing damage to the box, but to ensure our customers satisfaction we have tagged and tested every item.” Mr. Hames said.

These sales will provide a great opportunity for people wanting to pick up a huge discount on brand new products. Lloyds will be holding back-to-back auctions until they get through the stock, beginning with all brand-new items.

Some auctions are now open for bidding online and more sales will be added to the Lloyds Auctions website, so check the website regularly for details. The first auction finishes this Saturday 23rd of February and Lloyds are open 7 days for inspections.
